TZ ELLY & WALSH, LIMITED, Published this day, demy 8vo. Cloth, 438 pp., Uniform with Mr. Chamberlain's "Things Japanese,' "THINGS COINESE:" being Notes on various subjects connected with China, by J. DYER BALL. EXTRACT FROM PREFACE:-"On the appearance of 'Things Japanese,' it was suggested to the Author that he should "prepare a book on similar lines with regard to "Chinese subjects, and the present volume is the result.

"His thanks are due to B. N. Chamberlain Esq., for the courtesy and kindness which acoorded him a ready assent to the request that "the classification and plan of arrangement used in 'Things Japaness' might be copied in "Things Chinese' as far as was compatible " with the subject matter of the latter."

"Thirty years in China have given the Author many opportunities of observing and studying the Chinese in almost every aspect "of their life and character; and he has largely availed himself of his personal experience of them and of their curious habits and oustoms 'in the production of this book." his first public appearance in Hongkong at the Theatre Royal on Monday evening, and with the assistance of Mr. Wybert, a roller skater, and members of the Victoria Recreation Club and the Lorne Athletic Club, a very attractive programme was presented. There was a growded house, and if he can arrange another entertainment of the same kind before leaving the Colony he will no doubt be again well patronised. The first item on Monday evoning was Mr. Wybert's His Majesty the King of Spain, Her High display of roller skating. The gradient of the stage and the numerous trap doors are not favourable to performances of this character but Mr. Wybert made light of the difficulties and gave a really capital performance which was in its varying incidents, of as much good-The King, the Princess of Asturias, and londly applanded. It so happened that our first meeting of the the arrival of the telegram announcing the antiforeign riots in Anhui. Soon after we heard occupied and are so still, whilst the fourth one has been vacant for the whole of the half year and still the news it percolated down to the people, among whom it can ed a commotion such as I have not The net result of the first half year's working known for years. 'here was no word then of drive the foreigner out of China -- for it was gossip and interested animosity kept the To write off $228.02 from property account, which troubled waters simmering till at length they will then stand at $100,000; to pay a dividend at the count to the boiling point and, for a time, by came to the boiling point and, for a time, by friends and foes everything else was cast in the shade by this anti-foreign craze. When every bady's mind was tensy-except that of the for foreigners here, who certainly kept quiet enough and when the buzzing people were prepared for anything, what next? A little hungry boy went up to a seller of confectionery on the biscuits. After eating he should pay, but not a each had, he for the purpose. The augry seller fired off such a lot of expostulation and abuse that the boy set up a howl which attracted all the neighbourhood. Standing close by was a pencil-seller who asked the cause of the hysterical ories. The confectioner told him and at last said, "But it doesn't matter, it is only a few cash after all!" But the nencil-soller out of kindness of heart said to the boy, "Never mind. I'll give the cash, you cease crying and go home;" and with that he paid over the money. The crying ceased and the hoy turned to go. The quick argus eyes of justice saw more than pity in the act of the pencil-seller, and from the other side of the street a soldier who but watched the scene jumped across and seized the pencil seller as a kidnapper. The amazed man was taken to the yamen despite his protestations, and the accusation, expected by all the city, was made against him. Being so serious an offence the Governor General, who at that time more than half believed the stories, deputed the mandurin now in charge of lieling to examine the kidnapper. His account of his connection with the crying child was laughed at as a eleverly concocted story and he was plied with questions to ascertain "the truth." He was beaten first lightly then more severely and leading questions put to him so that he might tell the kidnapper's story. "How much did Mr Ross give you? How long have you been emplayed by him ?" etc. At length the mandarin 5,213.15 in apparent pity said, "Why are you so stubborn? will you not just say that you were employed by Mr. Ross and save yourself this beating? How can I !" was the man's roply. "I never $11,531.34 | spoke to Mr. Ross, we are utter strangers to each other. How can I say that? If I did say this untruth would it not land to far greater trouble?" As it was found that all sorts of arguments failed to elict "the truth," the man was at last committed to prison. Next day the your was invaded by about a thousand pencil-sellers to bail the man out. These, his fellows in trade, declared that this was a kind and good man gentle in manner and decent in conduct, wio could not possibly be guilty of the horrid crime imputed to him. The numbers of the bailers weighed with the mandarin more than th ir argaments, and the man was set free. A young mandarin, friendly both to us and that examiner. expressed his wonder that a man like him was o ignorant of foreigners as for a moment even o men to give oredence to such stories. What could I do?" raplied the judge. "from he Governor-General down every maddarin beliered more or less in the kidnapping stories, and what could I do? I could not stand alone. Several other attempts were made to get up charges against as by examining men accused of kidnapping, but the charges all fell through. All this, however, still kept up the excitement ad every new charge of kidnapping increased the general pheasiness. While the city was in this state of fermentation the Governor-General and the Commander of the Forces were called to Port Arthur to meat the Viceroy of Chihli, who went there to examine the forts Among other subjects of conversation was the kiduapping scare. An extraordinary general meeting of the nh ve bank was held at Winchester House, Old Brond-street, on the 16th December, for the pany having decided to employ only federation purpose of submitting to the shareholders a series of special resolutions. Mr. C. B. Stuart Wortley, M.P., presided. the Manager (Mr. G. MUNRO) read the notice convening the meeting together with the resolutions, under which holders of ordinary A shares upon which £2 has been paid might, if they should so desire, exchange them for 5 per cont. preference shares, £2 being paid thereon, the remaining £3 being called up only in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up. A further lengthy resolution had the effect of expanding references to the late firm of Messra. Russell and Co. in the articles of association.

The CHAIRMAN said—From the notice just road you will learn the particular purpose for which this meeting is called. Although we can not discuss any other business at this inceting it may not be out of place, and it will undoubt odly please you to hear, and I assure you it gives me much pleasure to be able to inform you, that, notwithstanding all the difficulties and trouble of the past our latest advices from Hongkon: inform us that the bank's position there is now firmly established, and that active and most succonsful steps are being taken to open up branches and agencies throughout China, and at points where support is promised us. The call of £2 a share, made in China, and payable on 31st July, has been well met. We are informed that the standing we have acquired in Hongkong during the three months the bank has been open for business, is most encouraging, and it appears that during this short period the bank has secured a large amount of good basiness. The dir ctors have been at great pains to a core a competent and efficient staff. In addition to being able to give you this gratifying information as to the business of the Bank, I have to inform you that the Hongkong directors do not nuticipate any loss to arise from the failure of Russell and Co. On all these grounds, therefore, I hope that it may now be considered that there was liftle to son for the gloomy prognostications to which that failure grave rise. The business of to-day is of a double nature, the resolutions Nos. I to 5 inclusive dealing with the scheme for issuing Proference Shares and the 6th Resolution dealing with the elimination from the Articles of Association of all reference to Russell and Co and cancellation of the agreement under which we were to pay them 15 per cent, of our profits, I propose to deal first with the latter resolution relating to the Articles of Association. Con cerning this there can be no two opinions, and therefore eight to be passed irrespective of the conversion scheme. I now move these resolutions. Mr. T. CARMICHAEL seconded, and the resolutions were adopted nem. con. The CHAIRMAN-I now come to the pre ference share scheme. You have all had it in your hands for some time, but it may be as well that I should say a little upon the scheme before patting the resolutions While the future of the bank was conded by the failure of Russe and the and the general aneasy feeling in all financial circles which was still affecting the money market when the bank was inaugurated, there were a considerable number of the "A" shareholders who desired to be relieved from embark ing the capital they had subscribed for in this undertaking. It was, however, found that upon the best legal advice obtainable (advice which ? have reason to believe has been independently confirmed) no absolute relief was possible, and we therefore endeavoured to frame a scheme which should limit the engarement of such o the "A" shareholders as might wish to avail themselves of it while leaving the other share. holders to reap the full benefit of the business I may tell you at once that the London committee formulated this scheme as being the utmost that could be offered to what I may call the then dissentiont shareholders, and that the Hongkong directors, while prepared to stand to the position taken up by them in July last of supporting this scheme, think now that in the improved position of the bank, and in view of the expressed desire of Chinese shareholders to keep all shares on an equal footing. will better serve the interests of all the shareholders if it is not proceeded with. () course the scheme must be adopted on its present lines or be abandoned. We have the most positive assurances that the Chinese shareholders are determined to go on and make the bank : success, and this is to no small degree evidenced by the progress that the bank has made in the ast three months. I should say also that the number of proxies received from the East make it unlikely that the conversion acheme will it carried. I have nevertheless thought it neces sary to remind you how it cane about that the schrae was proposed.

In reply to Mr. A. J. MACPHERSON, the ·CHAIRMAN stated that shareholders representing eight thousand and odd shares had expresse a desire to convert. There were roughly about 100 Founders' shares in favour of conversion. Mr. TANKEY, who stated that he represented a great many shareholders, said his clients were of opinion that whilst they were to be limited to a fixed rate of dividend their liability was to be unlimited. Although possibly th liability might not arise-perhaps might neve come—they thought it was fur better to hole their ordinary shares and have their chance of the large profts which it was hoped the company would make rather than have a liability hanging over their heads for an indefinite tim with a fixed income. But apart from the he had taken the opinion of very eminent counsel and he was advised that these resolutions even if they were passed, were ultra presthey were illegal-and an application would be made to the court to set aside the resolution before confirmation.

Mr. J. BUTTERY seconded.

The CHAIRMAN said it was clear he ought to take the decision of the meeting first, whatever the result might be, and, of course, if the conversion scheme was rejected the legal question would not arise. He therefore proposed the resolutions which had been already read. On a show of hands being taken, the CHAIR MAN remarked that the resolution appeared to be carried, whereupon,

Mr. STANLEY demande in poll, which was tak t In the meantime Mr. MATHESON asked wheher there was any intention of making immediate calls with regard to the capital of the bank. The CHAIRMAN said the Hongkong Board had expressed a desire to call up the remaining capital on the "A" shares during the course of 1892. The Loudon Board would do their best, however, to dissuade them from that course The CHAIR MAN then announced the result of the poll as follows:-There have been registered in farour of conversion; 7,189 hares, and against conversion, 9,353 shares. The resolutions are therefore lost.

Mr STIRLING, in proposing a vote of thanks to the directors, hoped that any litigation would be avoided, and that the shareholders would put their shoulders to the wheel and do the best they could to promote the success of the company which he believed had a future before it. The resolution was seconded and carried with

The CHAIRMAN briefly replied, and the meeting terminated.
